Part of Downtown Moncton's rich and vibrant history from its industrial and manufacturing era

ONE.

Founded in 1868, the Times and Westmorland and Albert Local News Journal was the prominent print publication of the day. It evolved under different names and two prior physical locations in Downtown Moncton, until the construction of its current facility in 1959.

Today, the Moncton Times & Transcript is still in full circulation and is one of the leading news publications in Atlantic Canada.

The rich history that surrounds this remarkable building; its stable downtown presence over the past 60 years and the unmatched development potential make this the ideal location for a marquee project.
